ACAP PROFILE for Joseph Hartnett, CEBS, President, AppealMedClaims LLC.

As the President of Appeal MedClaims LLC, I have more than 30 years' experience in employee benefits including client claims appeals. I earned a Certified Employee Benefits Specialist (CEBS) designation from the International Foundation of Employee Benefit Plans and the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania.

The CEBS program is regarded as the premier designation in the employee benefits industry. The Foundation has more than 33,000 multiemployer, corporate and public-sector members representing over 25 million lives. Since the inception of CEBS, the Wharton School has been responsible for all academic standards, including curriculum and examinations.

I have taken graduate courses in epidemiology at the University of Buffalo School of Social and Preventative Medicine. I also have a bachelor's degree in insurance from Empire State College.

How Long Have I Been a CAP: 2018

Services we provide:

We specialize in appealing most denied medical claims including Grievance and Adverse Organization Determinations, Expedited Determinations, Denial of Service, Service Delays, Pre-Service Denials, Contested Treatment Decisions, Denial of Future Services, Discontinuation or Reduction in Approved Service and Quality of Care Issues.

We organize and manage your claim appeal, minimize the time you need to spend dealing with coverage and contract issues and most importantly present the most meticulous, powerful and compelling appeal possible to get your rejected claim paid.

*USA and International services are available

Pro-Bono Services may be available for serious claim denials due to social injustice.
